I. Off-Campus Study

Enrollment: During the 2017-18 academic year, two hundred and fourteen students participated in study abroad for credit. One hundred and fifty-five students participated in semester or year abroad programs (this includes two students who participated in domestic programs included in off-campus study): three students studied abroad for the academic year, sixty-one for the fall semester and ninety-one for the spring semester. An additional sixty-one students participated in the three embedded study abroad programs that were offered for credit. Five students transferred credit from summer programs. Forty-one of the 2018 graduating class received credit from offcampus study, an increase over $37 \%$ of the 2017 graduating class.

Table I. Percent Study Abroad Participation by Graduating Class
Note: Some students may have participated in both semester and short-term programs. Note: The study abroad participation rate including short-term programs was not calculated prior to 2017.

| Graduating Class | Study Abroad Participation Rate | Participation Rate with Short-  Term Programs included |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| $\mathbf{2 0 1 4}$ | $38 \%$ | NA |
| $\mathbf{2 0 1 5}$ | $39 \%$ | NA |
| $\mathbf{2 0 1 6}$ | $36 \%$ | NA |
| $\mathbf{2 0 1 7}$ | $34 \%$ | $37 \%$ |
| $\mathbf{2 0 1 8}$ | $37 \%$ | $41 \%$ |

Domestic Opportunities: One student attended the Semester in Hawai'i program at the University of Hawai'i and one student attended the Williams-Mystic program by petition.

Orientation: Do to increased numbers of student participants, OCS developed a two-tiered system of orientation. Large group orientation sessions were developed to cover material that pertains to all students (i.e., insurance, travel policy, credit procedures). These were followed by site specific small group or individual sessions. OCS continued to organize orientations for students participating in embedded study abroad courses, athletic travel, and for all students going abroad in the summer with College funding.

Risk Management: The State Department revised its system of classifying risk in countries around the world. The International Travel Risk Management Committee developed protocols for reviewing student travel risk. The committee reviewed student petitions to travel to Mexico, Ukraine, Russia, Kenya, Ethiopia, Haiti, Lebanon, Nicaragua, Guatemala, Cuba, Israel-Palestine, and Jordan. OCS worked with General Counsel Sharmaine LaMar to revise travel risk forms and worked with Worth Health Center Director Alice Holland to revise health forms for student participants. After attending a required travel health consultation at the Worth Health & Wellness Center, students now upload their own medical history and immunization record into their OCS portal. OCS registered all students in embedded study abroad and athletics programs in the DOS STEP program. The community discussed the ramification of compliance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). The GDPR applies not only to institutions operating in the EU, but also to U.S. entities that collect and process personally identifiable data of individuals present in the EU, from the entity's location in the United States.

Insurance: The CISI insurance was renewed for 2018-19. All students, faculty, and staff in the OCS Travel Registry were enrolled in the CISI insurance plan.

Staffing: This was Associate Professor Jeremy Lefkowitz's first year as OCS Faculty Advisor. He continued the OCS faculty director practice of debriefing returning students, co-chaired the OCS Committee, was a member of the International Travel Risk Management Committee and participated in OCS events. This was also the first year of implementing the new OCST on-line credit evaluation system and Jeremy worked to clarify the uses of OCST credit.

Due to Rosa Bernard's part-time employment we were able to hire Sharlene Casado-Garcia on a part-time basis (renewed month to month). In June she began a one-year full-time position as a Study Abroad Associate as we evaluate what our staffing needs.

Sirisoponsilp, Chanoot Class of 2019
The OCS Committee reviewed the new credit policies related to Off-Campus Study Credit (OCST), as well as the new travel policy. The committee agreed that OCS should fund language pre-session programs and can consider funding cultural pre-session programs on a case by case basis. The committee discussed the development office "Connecting the Liberal Arts" initiative to "create opportunities for learning beyond the classroom" which would include embedded study abroad courses, and the process to grant such awards. The committee discussed the need to increase the visibility of the availability and application process for these funds. Many students who return from study abroad do not complete the credit evaluation process. These students will be referred to the Dean's Office and the Committee on Academic Requirements.

Exchanges: Two Swarthmore students attended the University of Tokyo for a semester and one University of Tokyo student attended Swarthmore for the academic year. Two Swarthmore students studied at Yale-NUS and two Yale-NUS students studied at Swarthmore, all for one semester each. One Swarthmore student spent a semester at Ashesi University.

Swarthmore-Administered and Swarthmore-Affiliated Study Abroad Programs:

1. ISLE (Sri Lanka). One student participated in the Fall 2017 semester.
2. HECUA. Jeremy Lefkowitz served on the HECUA Board. In Spring 2018 one student participated in the Peace, Conflict, and Transition in Northern Ireland program and one participated in New Zealand: A Shared Future, Culture, and Environment program.
3. Globalization, the Environment, and Society in Cape Town. Carr Everbach, faculty advisor for the program, served as the annual visiting faculty member in January, 2018. Nancy Bostrom, Assistant Director of Assessment at Macalester College conducted a study on the long-term impact on the alumni of the program. The 2018 annual meeting was hosted by Swarthmore.
4. Central European Programs. One student participated in the Central European Studies Program at Masaryk University in Brno, Czech Republic, coordinated by Professor Art McGarity.
5. Taktse International School. Professor Diane Anderson visited in Spring 2018.

New Programs and Affiliations:

1. OCS became an associate member of CASA (Consortium for Advanced Studies Abroad). CASA has centers in Barcelona, Granada, Brazil, Cuba, Ireland (Trinity College Dublin), Chile, and Argentina. Kendall Bostuen, Director of the Office of International Programs and Associate Dean of the College, Brown University and Dorothy Kelly, the Vice-Rector for International Relations and Development and Professor of Translation at the University of Granada visited to discuss the CASA program.
b) Principia Program at University of Glasgow offers an interdisciplinary seminar for honors students.
c) Special opportunities for student engagement (independent study, research, internships) on Middlebury programs can be customized to support academic work at Swarthmore.

Embedded Study Abroad Programs:

1. Israel/Palestine. Thirty-six students participated in the program organized by Professor Sa'ed Atshan. Professors Steven Hopkins, Lynne Schofield, and Philip Jefferson participated as faculty chaperones.
2. Spain. Professor María Luisa Guardiola and Assistant Professor Eli Cohen took seven students from the Memoria e Identidad course to Spain.
3. China, Hong Kong, and Taiwan. The Chinese Food Culture and Farming: Traditions and Transitions course traveled to China, Hong Kong, and Taiwan. Nineteen students participated in the program that was led by Professors Haili Kong and Hansjakob Werlen. Pat Martin and Professor Will Gardner spent a few days with the program in Taiwan.

OCS Projects and Policies:

1. Travel Policy: OCS implemented a new travel policy that requires students who participate in the Semester/Year Abroad Program to book their travel through Key Travel, which is then paid by OCS. In the past OCS provided funds to students to purchase their own round-trip airfares to their abroad locations. This was calculated as an average of three airfares using Philadelphia as the gateway city. Key Travel benchmarks the flights against a round-trip from Philadelphia to the abroad site and OCS will pay for the flights up to the cost of a round-trip to Philadelphia. The result is that checks are not issued to the students and they do not pay for their own flights; this is done directly by OCS to the travel agency. OCS now has the flight itineraries of the students, and can assure that students will arrive in time to participate in orientation and cannot book flights to leave before the end of examinations. Key Travel can also provide carbon emission data that is used by the Office of Sustainability.
2. Credit Evaluation System. OCS worked with Jean Pagnotta in ITS on the design and implementation of the new OCS online Credit Evaluation System. This online system replaces the paper system that students used to obtain signatures from faculty to approve courses. The new system allows OCS staff, the students, faculty credit evaluators, and the registrar, to participate in, and see the progress of credit evaluation.
3. Financial Policy: Student budgets now cover vacation periods when students must leave their accommodation.

Events:

1. Major OCS annual events: Pre-departure gatherings (orientation) and welcome back gatherings for participants in the semester/year abroad program; Passport Day; orientation for students participating in summer activities; Swatstruck; participation in the Advising Fair, Summer Opportunities Fair, co-sponsored events with Career Services (Marketing your International Experience) and the Financial Aid office; and Reflections: Conversations with Study Abroad Students during Garnet Weekend. The Study Abroad Fair was well attended (more than 200 students and approximately 40 programs/universities).
2. Peace Luncheon. Off-Campus Study sponsored the annual Peace Luncheon at the NAFSA conference in Philadelphia. Professor Lee Smithey gave the welcome remarks.

Faculty Engagement:

OCS worked closely with faculty who organized and led the following abroad programs:

1. Globalization, the Environment, and Society in Cape Town. Carr Everbach
2. China, Hong Kong, and Taiwan Embedded Study Abroad Program. Haili Kong, and Hansjakob Werlen (19 students)
3. Israel/Palestine Embedded Study Abroad Program. Sa'ed Atshan, Steven Hopkins, Lynne Schofield, and Philip Jefferson (36 students)
4. Spain Embedded Study Abroad Program. María Luisa Guardiola, Eli Cohen (7 students)
5. Athletics Swim Team Trip to Puerto Rico. Karin Colby ( 45 students and 4 faculty/staff)
6. Athletics Women's Basketball Trip to Puerto Rico. Renee DeVarney ( 14 students and 3 faculty/staff)
7. UN Climate Change Conference in Poland: Jennifer Peck, Chris Graves, and 6 students
8. Lang Center Sponsored Program to Helio, Japan: Denise Crossan and 2 students

OCS supported the following faculty site visits or program-related travel:

1. María Luisa Guardiola travel in Madrid following the embedded study abroad course.
2. Art McGarity site visit to Poland.
3. Diane Anderson site visit to Taktse School in India.
4. Will Gardner visit to Japan.

OCS provided support to students for the following co-curricular activities:

1. Debate Society: UK -2 students. Mexico -8 students
2. Hackathon in Finland: 4 students
3. Externships: 5 students
4. Office of Sustainability Internship in Hawai'i: 2 students
5. Google Conference in Ireland: 3 students
6. German Section Funded Study: 1 student
7. Provost-sponsored research: 38
8. Lang Center sponsored: 26

OCS Staff Professional Development and Site Visits:
Jeremy Lefkowitz and Pat Martin co-chaired the Off-Campus Study Committee. Jeremy worked with department and program chairs to clarify their transfer credit policies and the uses of OCST credit. Jeremy, as OCS faculty advisor, also participated in the International Travel Risk Management Committee. Jeremy met with all returning study abroad participants for the final credit review and also to discuss their study abroad experiences. Jeremy participated in all of the major OCS events including orientation and re-entry programs.

Pat Martin participated in a Middle States Working Group, the Clery Act Compliance Committee, the Crisis Planning Action Committee, the Beyond the Classroom Committee, the Administrative Advisory Committee, and College Leadership Programs. She also gave a presentation to the Athletics Department on study abroad.

Pat Martin conference and workshop attendance: annual OSAC Safety and Security conference in Washington, DC; the CIEE conference in Austin, Texas; the Forum on Education Abroad conference in Boston and the Forum on Education Abroad Standards of Good Practice Institute: Beyond the Basics of Health, Safety, Security & Risk Management at Arcadia University where she presented "High Risk Environments: How Smaller-Sized Institutions Can Make Difficult Decisions About Travel"; and the NAFSA conference in Philadelphia where she was awarded the NAFSA Education Abroad Leadership Award. Pat was an invited speaker at a workshop for international educators from the Czech Republic, sponsored by Drexel University.

Pat Martin site visits: March - University of Glasgow, Sterling University, University of Aberdeen, and the University of Edinburgh. May - Visits in Taiwan with Haili Kong and Will Gardner - CET at NTU; NTU Office of International Affairs and the International Chinese Language Program (ICLP); and the Office of International Affairs at National Taiwan Normal University and the Mandarin Training Center.

Due to an OCS staffing shortage, Diana Malick contributed to the work of the Assistant Director. Diana attended the annual Terra Dotta User Conference. She developed new uses of the software including making student evaluations accessible online; created student budget sheets as part of student Terra Dotta records; and worked on developing the advising feature. Essentially Diana's innovations have contributed to a paperless study abroad office. She assisted in testing and feedback for the credit evaluation system and due to the staffing shortage in OCS she helped process courses through the system. Diana helped develop the procedures for working with Key Travel that include authorizing payments and uploading invoices to the Works system. Diana organized the highly successful annual Study Abroad Fair and Passport Day.

Assessment

OCS participated in the longitudinal survey of the alumni of the Macalester/Pomona/Swarthmore Cape Town program on the long-term impacts of participation.

Returning study abroad participants are required to complete a written evaluation of their experience and have a debriefing meeting with the OCS Faculty Advisor. In addition, we developed a short "one minute" survey as students waited for their debriefing meetings, which gives us an opportunity to get feedback from nearly all of the study abroad participants, take stock, and make quick adjustments and interventions. The first survey stated that "The OffCampus Study Office is aware that sexual harassment and misconduct, that can take many forms, is among the many challenges that students often face while living and traveling abroad. Do you feel that you were informed and prepared prior to going abroad of the challenges you might encounter? Do you have suggestions for how OCS and other campus resources can help prepare students who might study in your country/program? Do you have specific advice to share with other students?" Overall, students felt that their program orientations and handbooks were sufficient in preparing them in some of the challenges they may face.

II. Off-Campus Study Enrollment and Demographics

Table II breaks down the numbers of students who received credit from study abroad programs according to type of program: fall semester only, spring semester only, year abroad, participation in the embedded study abroad courses, and transfer credit for summer study abroad. The table also shows when students have participated in more than one credit-bearing program. The summer data is for the summer following the indicated academic year. Students who participate in domestic approved programs are included.

*In 2013-14 five full-year students participated in two separate semester programs; in 2014-15 one full-year student attended two different semester programs; in 2015-16 four full-year students attended two different semester programs; in 2016-17 three full-year students attended two different semester programs. In 2017-18 one full-year student attended two different semester programs.

Some students decide to take a leave of absence from the College in order to study abroad and do not receive credit. Their numbers are represented in Table III.

The information in Tables VIII - XII is provided by the Office of Institutional Research. Starting with the graduating class of 2017, two sets of data are provided: semester and year abroad participants, and semester and year abroad with embedded study abroad included.

Fifteen percent of the graduating class of 2018 were first generation college participants and $34 \%$ participated in Semester/Year programs and 39 percent of them participated in Semester/Year Abroad & embedded programs combined.

With Semester/Year Abroad and embedded programs combined, 29\% of Off-Campus Study participants were NSE majors (compared with $47 \%$ of all majors). Seventeen percent were humanities majors (compared with $15 \%$ overall), $41 \%$ were social science majors (compared with $44 \%$ overall) and $16 \%$ had interdisciplinary majors (compared with $13 \%$ overall).

Non-resident aliens comprised 4\% (17 students) of the 2018 graduating class and 31\% participated in Semester/Year programs and 33\% participated in Semester/Year & embedded programs combined.

Women represented $49 \%$ of the 2018 graduating class and $50 \%$ participated in Off-Campus Study (including embedded study abroad courses). Men represented $51 \%$ of the graduating class and had a $32 \%$ participation rate in Off-Campus Study (including embedded study abroad courses).

|  | Female | Male |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 2017 | $37 \%$ | $37 \%$ |
| 2018 | $50 \%$ | $32 \%$ |

Seventeen percent of the graduating class of 2018 ( 72 students) were considered underrepresented minorities and $50 \%$ ( 36 students) of those students participated in Off-Campus Study. Students who identified as Asian (non-Hispanic) or as two or more races (non-Hispanic) were underrepresented in Off-Campus Study.

$\underline{\text { V. Swarthmore College Funded Short-term International Activities }}$

The numbers of students who participated in College-sponsored international activities other than study abroad for credit are indicated in the chart below. When added to the study abroad totals, students participated in at least 365 international activities in 2017-18, compared with 443 in 2017-17. The athletics department ran two trips abroad, compared to four in the prior year.

OCS creates travel registries for these activities, trains faculty and staff, creates handbooks for the faculty, and helps prepare students for the athletics and faculty-led programs through orientation programming. The students, along with faculty and staff who traveled with them, were registered in the travel registry, and were registered for CISI health and travel assistance insurance. Group programs were registered by OCS for the State Department STEP program.

OCS coordinates information concerning compliance with student enrollment with the Worth Health Center, Provost Office, the Lang Center, additional sponsoring departments, athletics, career services, and any other sponsors of student travel.

The Worth Health Center staff provided travel health consultations for the students in the travel registry. The health center organized group travel health consultations for participants in the embedded study programs and athletics trips.

Table VII. Enrollment in the Semester/Year Abroad Programs over Five Years
Notes: Students enrolled in the same program for one academic year are counted once. If individual students participate in more than one study abroad program in the same year, the column totals will not equal the number of students who studied abroad that year. Grey rows indicate approved programs that have not had Swarthmore participants in the past five years. Students enrolled in Swarthmore short-term embedded study abroad programs are not included.
$\mathbf{P}=$ Participation in a Petition Program. * = No longer approved.
NA = Program is not available or was not approved in earlier years
